GRAND OPENING CONCERT

Friday, July 8, 2022 from 6:00-8:00pm
On the Heritage Green lawn
Free to the public

Featuring performances by Josh White Jr, Mac Arnold (acoustic), and Tuba Gin.

Exhibit runs July 8, 2022 until March 31, 2023

Sigal Music Museum’s newest exhibit, Sounds of America, will kick off with a special concert on Friday, July 8, 2022 from 6:00 to 8:00pm. The event will take place on the lawn in front of the museum, located at 516 Buncombe St. on Heritage Green. Performers include Mac Arnold (acoustic), Tuba Gin, and visiting artist Josh White Jr. Sounds of America will feature the 1943 Martin guitar that belonged to his father, Greenville native Josh White. Those attending the concert will be able to see the exhibit for a special rate of $5.00. A food truck will also be on property.

Sigal Music Museum, located on Heritage Green in downtown Greenville, is home to one of the largest collections of historically significant musical instruments in the country. Our newest exhibit, Sounds of America, will uncover stories from the founding of America to modern day, displaying a cross-section of genres, artists, and developing technologies for listening to and recording music. Features include the following:

- The first piano sold in America (1775)
- Josh White’s 1943 Martin guitar
- A recreation of John H. Williams Music Store (Greenville, 1905)
- An interactive recording studio exhibit
- A retrospective of music technology, including many pioneering recording formats
- Exhibits on Blues, Jazz, Ragtime, Gospel, and other American forms
- Interactive listening stations

The Sigal Music Museum is a 501(c)(3) organization that collects and preserves historical instruments which engage and enrich people of all ages through exhibits, performances, and experiential programs.
